At Rend Lake Dedication

A Plan Becomes A Reality

Congressman KENNETH GRAY, a great promoter of Rend Lake College, gave an address at the dedication ceremony.

RLC students were also participants in activities at the dedication.

DR. WILLIAM B. LENOIR, a member of NASA's sixth group of scientific astronauts, spoke of great world plans as synonymous to plans of our own college.

To The Student . . .

Recently, after several years absence, I had occasion to visit the University of Illinois where I had been first a student and then a member of the faculty. Now, after many years, the campus is a strange place cluttered with unfamiliar new buildings and denuded of the thousands of stately elms I had known. It is now an unfriendly place with too many people hurrying to too many places and not a recognizable face among them. I searched the places I had known and loved, but nowhere could I find evidence of my having passed that way. It seems I had left no track. Then I found a white-haired man in a camera store who remembered, and a professor who also recalled my years with him. Later, I found another professor there who had worked in a fraternity kitchen with me when he was a senior and I was a freshman; he remembered after thirty-one years. It has since occurred to me that the only trace left upon the university by my earlier attendance is to be found buried deeply in the hearts of a few aging friends who will one day be gone. Indeed I have left no permanent track.

However, the University of Illinois left its imprint on me. And I shall not forget. It is proper that the school mold the student, refine him and perhaps change his direction, and leave an indelible tract upon him. It is also proper that, after careful maturing, individuals exert positive influence on others and perhaps even upon institutions.

A few notable people affect the course of great institutions in a very real way, but most of us fulfill our purpose and then are gone. Usually those who exert permanent influence on a college or university do so in their more mature years capping a lifetime of achievement, and then rarely at their undergraduate alma mater.

Once in a while it is good to return knowing that it is not our own tracks we seek - they are gone. Rather we should rejoice that the great institutions which helped mold us are still reshaping and refining youth in an ever changing and improving way.

Just as I left my alma mater and then returned, so you will leave Rend Lake College to perhaps come back some day. You will have memories, and you will at first be disappointed with the changes you will see. Your tracks and those of friends you knew will have been erased by the trampling of the thousands who follow you. The real imprint will be that of the college upon you.

The fond dreams of countless generations of youth has included a desire to change the imperfect society bequeathed to them, and all have succeeded to a degree. So will you. However, the chance is great that any such change you may effect will be accomplished in maturity, not in youth. Youth is a time of impression, and I sincerely hope that the imprint left upon you by Rend Lake College will help in the building of a better world.

Dean James R. McGhee

Foreword

Every human being is a unique individual . . .
each with a distinct personality.
We all live, look,
love, and learn
in our own individual ways.
During our lives we are all participants
and spectators,
leaders and followers,
givers and receivers,
dreamers and doers, satisfied and dissatisfied.

Rend Lake College is made up of groups
and individuals, each one helping to form the progressive college that we have today.

District No. 521 Board Members

The 1971-72 Rend Lake College District board consists of seven members elected by the districts' citizens. Discussing matters of finance and policy, the Board meets monthly.

Faculty Council

Student welfare, faculty problems, and instructional programs are some of the various subjects that the Faculty Council deals with. The Council is elected every year and meets monthly with a Student Senate representative in attendance.

FACULTY COUNCIL MEMBERS ARE FIRST ROW, Left to Right: Mrs. Carolann DeSelms, Miss Barbara Tomek, Mrs. Eleanor Hall, President; Mrs. Evelyn Claxton, President elect; 2nd ROW FROM LEFT: Cathy Kirkpatrick, Mr. Max Brandon, Mr. Robert Jones, Mr. Myron Foley, Mr. Howard Rawlinson, Mr. Thomas Burke, and Mrs. Mary Drew.

President Snyder Guides R.L.C.

Dr. James M. Snyder faces many responsibilities as President of Rend Lake College.

Working together, Dr. Snyder and his secretary, Mrs. Mavis Carter, look over some important papers.

Rawlinson Ends Career In Administration

DR. HOWARD RAWLINSON, whose genuine concern for RLC students gained him affection and admiration, completed his career in administration this year.

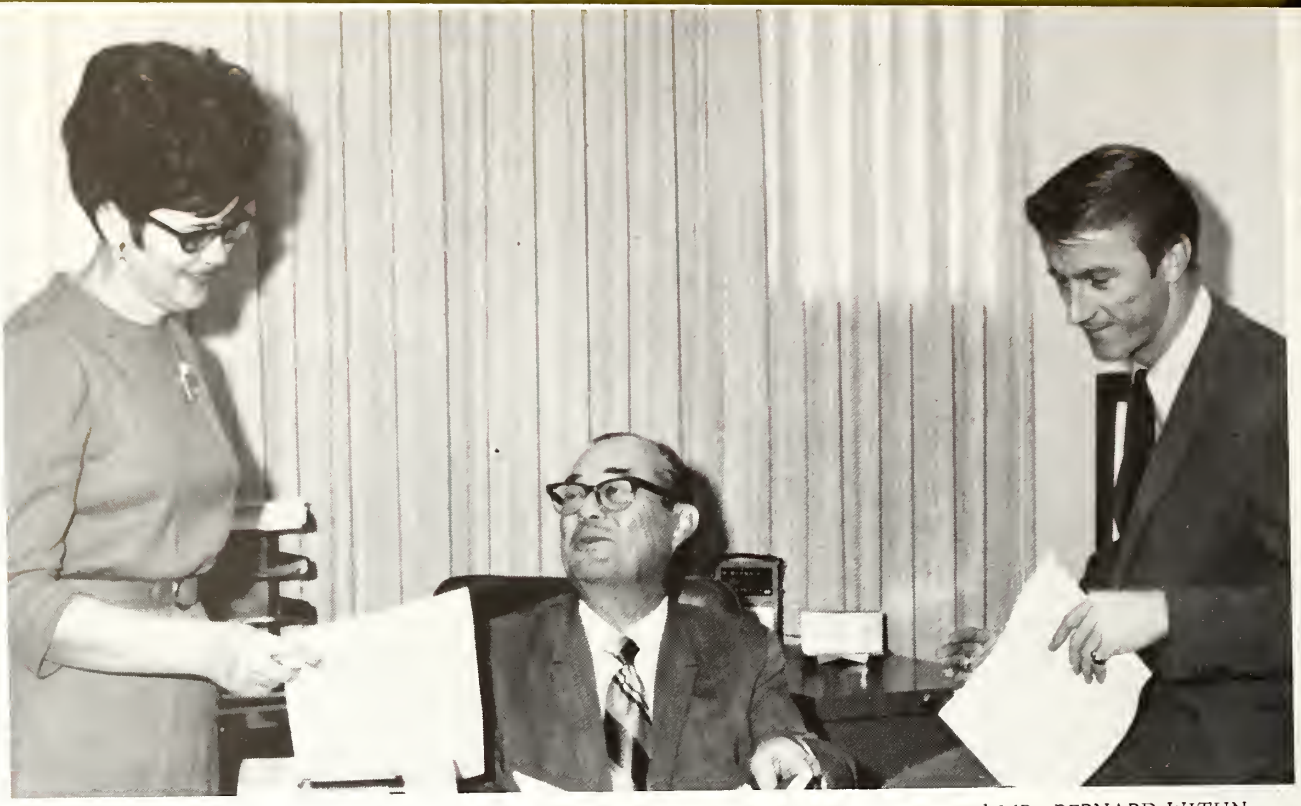
DEAN RAWLINSON is assisted by his secretary, MRS. KATHLEEN KELLY.

Deans Supervise, Co-ordinate Programs

MR. JAMES R. McGHEE, Dean of the Adult Education and Community Service program, discusses an important matter with Secretary, MRS. LOIS MILLER.

Student Personnel Dean, MR. JAMES YATES, reviews registration records with Secretary, MRS. ROSALYN GUYTON.

MR. ARDELL KIMMEL, Head of the College's Varied Vocational Program, receives a message from Secretary, MRS. RUTH HEIDERSCHEIT.



MRS. ROSEMARY CARNES, Secretary; MR. PAUL M. FITCH, Business Manager; and MR. BERNARD WITUNSKI, Assistant Business Manager.

Agriculture Offers Expanding Careers

Serving the needs of the individual in an ever-changing society, the Agriculture Department, on the Bonnie Campus, offers a two-year program which leads to an Associate of Applied Science Degree. It includes agriculture business, mechanics, and production and management. On the job training provides the students with practical experience and a chance to learn while they earn.

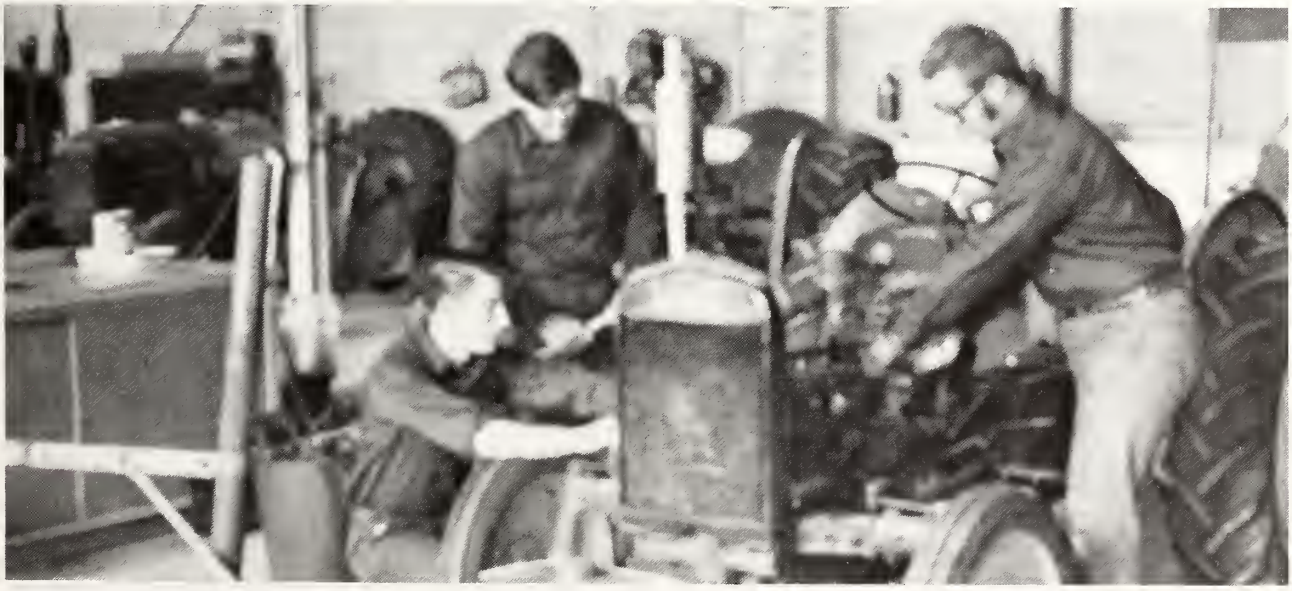
Leavell Swink shows Lex Anderson and Earl Buckner how to grade and test the moisture content of grain samples.

Repairs are made on a farm tractor by students Russell Wilton, Bill Weiss, and Hugh Unfriedy.



Art Displays Originality

Our new art teacher, MR. JOHN W. SGUTT, has his classes working in many mediums: clay, paper, tile, and oil paint. Future Picassos and Van Goghs are able to do their own thing.

MR. JOHN W. SGUTT watches David Dunn drawing.

The hand is the creator of original art.

Reality is expressed through the artist, TOM SCHERER.

Character Emerges From Health And P.E. Education

Awareness of health is awakening of the limitless possibilities of life. Our new instructor, Mr. Mike McClure, along with Jim Waugh, strives to illustrate this in their classes.

MR. JIM WAUGH.

MR. MIKE McCLURE

MR. WAYNE ARNOLD teaches courses designed for physical education majors.

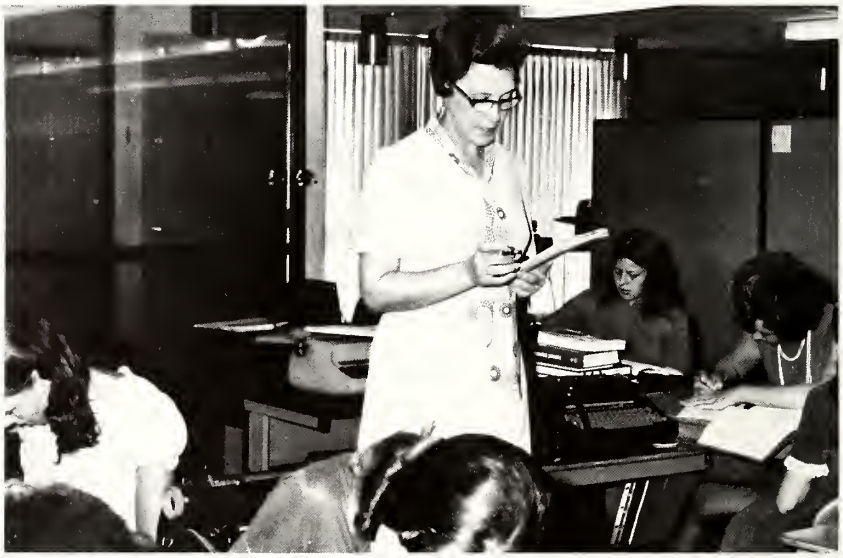
MISS REBECCA PETIT holds sole position as the head of the girls P. E. Department.

Business Encourages Growth

Business expands each individual's growth in today's increasingly industrialized world. From shorthand and typing to economic accounting and data processing, the Business Department creates a better understanding of the various principles related to this field. New machines help students prepare for competition.

Business Students listen attentively while MRS. KOLKHORST displays the proper materials and explains how they are used.

MRS. IMOGENE KOLKHORST illustrates how to operate the mimeograph machine.



MRS. GELA GOIN, The Department Head, dictates to future stenographers.

MR. WILLIAM YOUNGHUSBAND explains accounting principles.

MR. MYRON FOLEY demonstrates an important part of economics and then looks to see if his class responds.

MRS. GOIN teaches basic principles in the business field.

Communications Promote Understanding

DR. BARBARA LUCHSINGER, Chairman of Communications Department, receives a theme from a student in English III.

DR. JANET McREYNOLDS expresses her amusement as she engages in classroom discussion with students.

MRS. CHERYL FOLEY, Speech and Drama Instructor, lectures while Kurt Strothmann listens attentively.

MR. THOMAS BURKE demonstrates his ideas to the class.

Those students adventurous enough, can discover a wealth of knowledge from speech, journalism, and composition by participating in the teachings offered. Increasing and improving methods of effective speaking, reading, and writing are the primary goals of the department. Through the teachings of Greek and other writings, literature enhances the understanding of the connection between the past and present society. All forms of communication develop our cultural capacity.

MRS. LOIS MACKEY, Reading Lab Instructor, assists students to improve their reading ability.

MR. JACK TRAVER uses expression in his teaching.

MRS. GEORGINE MONKEN prepares students for a term paper.

DR. EVELYN CLAXTON presents information of interest in the classroom situation.

Beauty Culture — Continuous And Demanding

Students participating in the Beauty Culture program, located in Benton, are prepared to meet the requirements for their licensing by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education. Cosmotology is an important profession adding to the economy of the community.

JUDITH REA, Communications Instructor, works with BRENDA HARTLEY and VIRGINIA ROBINSON, Beauty Culture Instructors at the school.

Sandra Darnell, supervised by MRS. BETTY WEBB, director of the program, adds finishing touches to a pleased customer's coiffure.

The 1971 graduating class of the School of Beauty Culture.

Counselors Assist In Future Goals

As students venture into the future, guidance and direction are essential in facing the problems and questions that arise. Counsel in the form of conversation is a second education which improves our understanding of the obstacles ahead. Discussing problems with the counselors initiates a constructive attitude and a positive outlook.

MR. CHARLES E. VON SCHLUTTER, MRS. BETTY ANN WARD, and MISS BARBARA L. TOMEK compose the counseling staff of RLC.

Technical World Demands Draftsmen

Increasing interest in mechanical technology provides a never-ending need for engineering aids, design draftsmen, detail draftsmen, or the laboratory technician. The program, on the Mt. Vernon RLC campus, emphasizes machine design. Our draftsmen are designing the future.

MR. MELVIN R. PARTRIDGE observes Jon Davey displaying skills acquired in the RLC Drafting Class.

Mastery of a wide variety of instruments is essential for Future Draftsman.

Communication Through Language

Learning its language is the first step toward understanding a country, its people, and their beliefs. Understanding is reached through language study. Students at RLC learn there is more to be gained from French, German and Spanish than conjugations and irregular verbs.

French is enjoyable as well as educational when MRS. CAROLYN DESELMS teaches.

German and Spanish languages are taught by MR. FLOYD J. DRESSEL.

Library Offers Wealth Of Knowledge

A good book is the essence of a good man. Through knowledge obtained from the book and research materials in the library, students are able to increase their intellectual capacity, as well as formulate their own ideas, concepts, and opinions. The library not only provides an inspiring atmosphere, but also maintains a sense of efficiency and orderliness.

Phil Fally searches for needed information by utilizing library facilities.

The hand of knowledge guides us in our future endeavors.

MRS. PAULA DULANEY, Senior Clerk, assists students Deanna Page, Sharon Voyles, and Helen Gelfus.

MRS. IMOGENE BOOK, Library director, keeps the card catalog in order in addition to her other duties.

MRS. PAULA DELANEY, Senior clerk, assists Jim Menzie in locating material.

Secretary-Clerk, MRS. EVELYN YORK, and Junior Clark, MISS CATHERINE KARCHER assist in library orderliness.

MRS. LEON JORDAN is in charge of the library during the evening hours.

Audio Visuals Develop Inner Skills

We know accurately only when we can see and hear for ourselves. From hard rock music to botanical studies, audio-visual aids open the way for limitless possibilities of learning.

Mary Farmer, seated, Paul Davis and Mary Gerber take advantage of the microfilm reader.

Larry Upchurch listens attentively to some of the aids available.

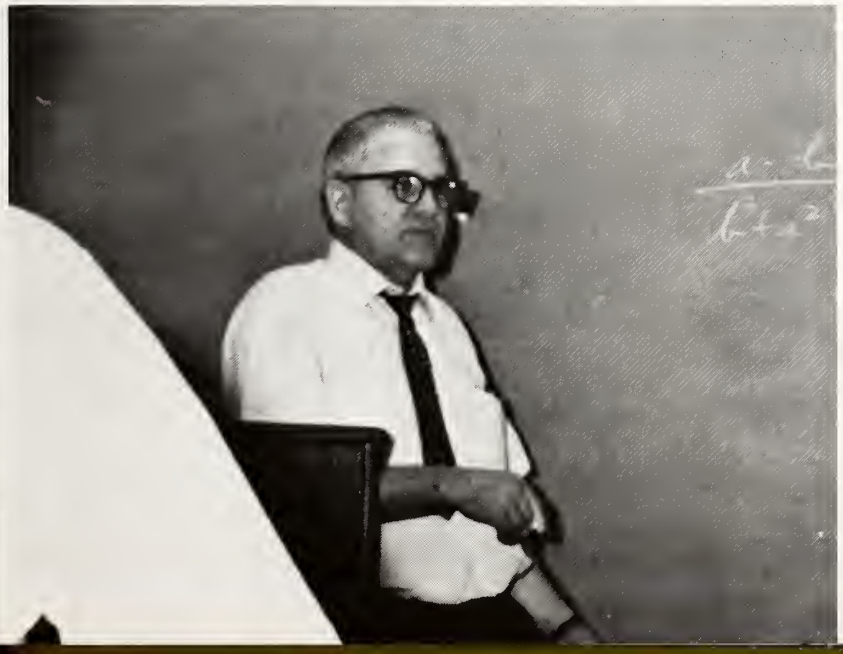
MR. PATTON, Director of Audio-Visual Aids, and his Assistant, MARY GERBER, check equipment.

Mathematics Matures Reasoning

The Mathematics Department cultivates reasoning and the ability to thing through the ideas associated with problem-solving formulas and equations. The courses range from computational math to integral calculus and differential equations.

Jay Dewitt solves a problem while MR. RICHARD PERRACHIONE observes his accuracy.

MR. WILLIAM H. MEYERS, Head of the Mathematics Department, conveys a point with emphasis.



MR. JULIAN J. LEVESQUE waits for comments after placing a problem on the board.

Auto Mechanics Provides Career Opportunities

MR. McKEMIE directs a student in proper use of one of many mechanical tools.

Today Automotive Mechanics is a highly active, varied field. The need for automotive service is very widespread and RLC's automotive program in Benton helps meet this demand.

The students become familiar with basic principles of the field and gain experience by developing mechanical ability to replace parts, spot problems, and repair them correctly.

The automotive program is handled by MR. ROBERT McKEMIE and MR. DANNY JENNINGS.

MR. JENNINGS advises a student mechanic as he inspects the engine.

Collegiate Choir — Good PR

Providing public relations for Rend Lake College is the Collegeate Choir, directed by Larry Phifer. Selected by auditions, this group has performed as many as thirty different places in one year. One of the highlights this year was the Junior College Festival at S.I.U. Carbondale.

THE COLLEGIATE CHOIR helps inspire Warrior fans as they present a halftime show.

Concert Band Builds Musicianship

The R.L.C. Concert Band, directed by Edward Tandy, plays both popular and classical pieces. Practicing twice weekly, they not only perform at basketball games but also give concerts and go on tour.

John Reynolds adds a beat as the concert band rehearses.

The sound of the french horn echoes through the gym.

Overtones vibrate as Kim Hall practices the tuba for a band performance.

Practical Nursing Promotes Healthful Living

Practical nursing, a one year career program, is designed to prepare the student, through experience, the art of caring for the sick. The program prepares them for involvement with rehabilitation and the prevention of illness under the direction of a registered professional nurse, in the home, nursing home, or in the hospital.

Miss Mary Ksychi, chairman of the nursing program, and Mrs. Shirley McHaney demonstrate medical procedures with a manikin.

Mrs. June Thompson and Mrs. Shirley Yeargin discuss with two students, the anatomy of the skull.

Bottles, pans, jars; each nurse learns to use them effectively.

Study of human anatomy is important in the nursing program.

Secretary for the nursing program, Mrs. Betty Herbert, fills out medical forms.

Mrs. Janet Ray utilizes instruments in the technology room.

Proper Methods Develop Knowledge Of Science

Science is a method: Observation - of all that surrounds us; Definition - of a problem or a question. Formulation - of a hypothesis, a scientific guess; Experimentation - careful processes and long hours; Theory - and its relation to the practical.

Department Chairman, MR. EDWARD P. KOWNACKI shows a chemistry student how to shape glass with a bunsen burner.

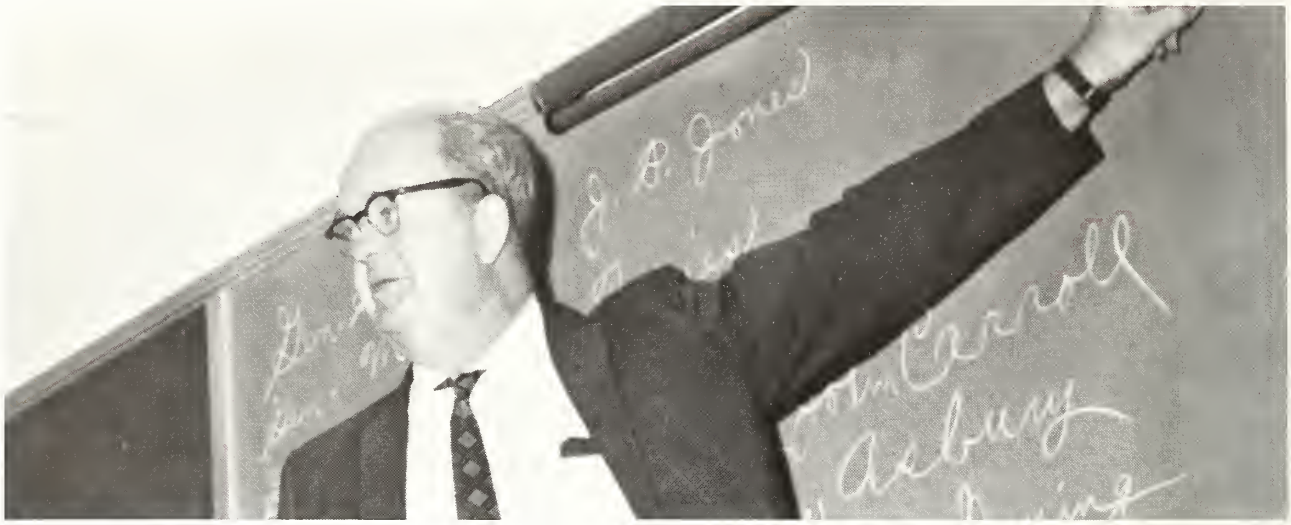
Teaching Physical Science in his first year at R.L.C. is MR. RICHARD E. HEATON.

Botony instructor, DR. EUGENE ESTES, examines a microscopic slide in preparation for his lecture.

Social Science Department Expands Mental Horizons



MR. ARTHUR SAMFORD points out an important term in American History.

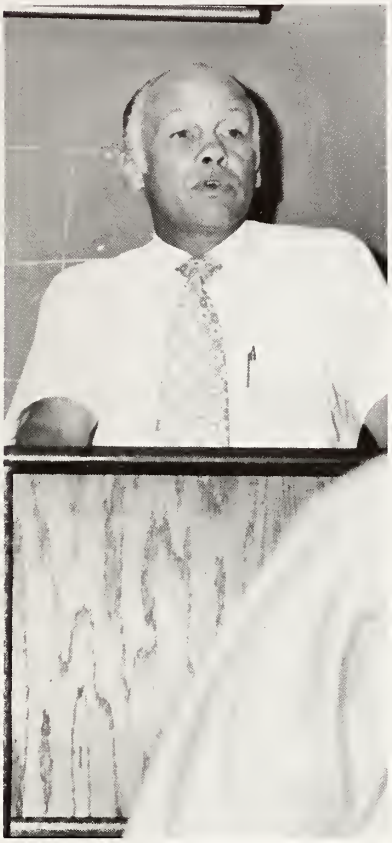
MR. VINCENT CAIN attempts to explain the past civilization of the Europeans.

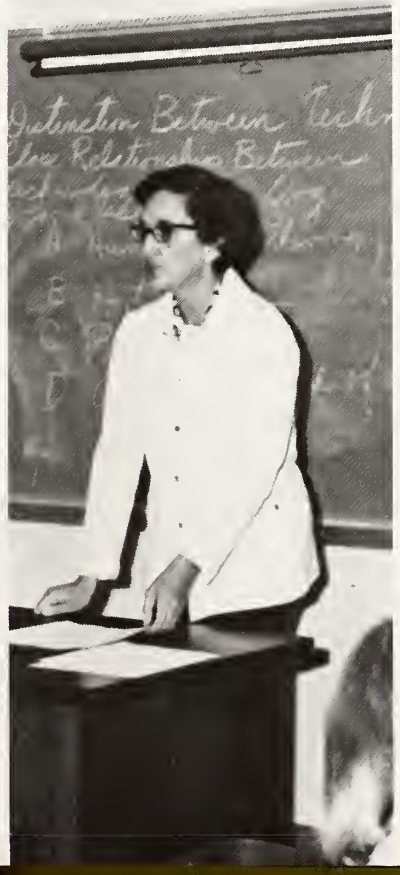
As teachers and students study the many aspects of groups in their societies, they become aware of these actions in their groups. Putting old and new ideas under careful examination and discussing evolution of government and thought students become prepared for the future by examining the past.



MR. MAX E. BRANDON, Geography and Political Science Instructor, lectures his class.

By the use of a projector, E. JUDSON DEWITT, Psychology Instructor, adds variety to his teaching methods.

MR. ROBERT L. JONES, History Instructor, creates a good relationship with his class by his informal approach in teaching.



MRS. ELEANOR HALL, Anthropology and Sociology Instructor, explains her unit objectives.

Acting as this years B.S.U. advisor is Barbara Luchsinger.

A special attraction this year was guest speaker Sammy Tippet from the Chicago area.

P.T.K. Installs New Members

Phi Theta Kappa is a national honor society of American junior colleges. P.T.K. is interested in promoting scholarship, developing character, and displaying service. To be asked to join, a student must earn a 3.5 grade point average and keep at least a 3.2 average. President Brenda Record presided over the fall installation ceremonies.

Karen Book reads the Phi Theta Kappa pledge as new members await the candle lighting ceremony.

Karen Book, vice-president, Sheryl Guyton, secretary, and Terri Bagwell, treasurer, look over plans for the installation.

Advisor for this year's P.T.K. is Mr. Myron Foley.

. . . Loving You And Music, Music, Music

Lips, throats, hands, reeds, mouth pieces - all are instrumental to Rend Lake's Music Department. Aiding in the development of the student's musical talent are the department head, MR. LARRY D. PHIFER, and MR. D. EDWARD TANDY. MR. PHIFER concentrates primarily on the vocal aspects of music while MR. TANDY stresses band and piano.

MR. PHIFER conducts a collegiate choir rehearsal.

Janet Raney, MR. PHIFER, Le-Ann Dycus, Courtney Cox constitute the Theory 111 Class.

MR. TANDY pauses from Concert Choir rehearsal to answer questions.

Getting down to the core of things, MR. TANDY chomps his daily apple.

Expressing themselves in Music are David Davidson, Courtney Cox, H. B. Frick, Karen Lucas, and Sherry Kellerman.

Pressing Times Reports Campus Happenings

The ringing of the typewriter bell added a familiar sound in the Pressing Times office as stories rolled from the minds of their authors. Meeting daily deadlines, yet keeping the newspaper current kept the staff on their toes. These deadlines resulted in "The Pressing Times."

Pressing Time Editor, Karen Book prepares assignments for the next issue.

In charge of "Nonsensical Phenomenon," Keith Parker's familiar cartoons enlightened everyone.

As proverbial "Mother" to her staff, Dr. Evelyn Claxton often comforted as well as advised.

As advertising manager, Jay DeWitt helped finance P.T.

Reporters Allen Webber, Becki Bondi, and Jim Steed filled the newspaper with many stories and features.

Tarn Thinks Yearbook

Coordinating their efforts as a team, the Tarn staff succeeded in surviving the deadline squeeze. New, original ideas, molded by hard work made the sometimes frustrating experience emerge into a final soothing sense of accomplishment.

Charlie Jacobs, business manager and Don McKenzie appear to be discussing "heavy" financial matters.

Sydney Stotlars' job as activities ed. is to portray through pictures the emotion of R.L.C. campus life.

Photographers Terry Edson and Roger Dixon capture on film every aspect of R.L.C.

S.E.A. Builds Teachers

Affiliated with the National Association and Illinois Education Association, the SEA is an organization for all students who are interested in becoming teachers. Besides sponsoring a book sale at the beginning of each semester, the SEA has also conducted an apple sale and T-shirt sale. Profits from these go towards a future teacher scholarship.

Installing SEA officers in a candlelight ceremony is MISS BARBARA TOMEK.

MRS. IMOGENE BOOK fills the advisorship of SEA.

Senate Serves School

Rend Lake's student body is represented through the Student Senate, which considers school policies, engages in outside projects, and arranges the school's social activities and convocations.

In addition to the Christmas Dance and Spring Formal, the Senate sponsores several dances and movies throughout the year.

Representing the freshman class are Kurt Strothmann, Donna Kimmel, Pam Stewart, and Duff Cooper.

Paula Dycus, Cosmetology; Jesse Bee, Janice Webb, and Steve Korris, representatives-at-large; and Nancy Wilson, Cosmetology, discuss Senate plans.

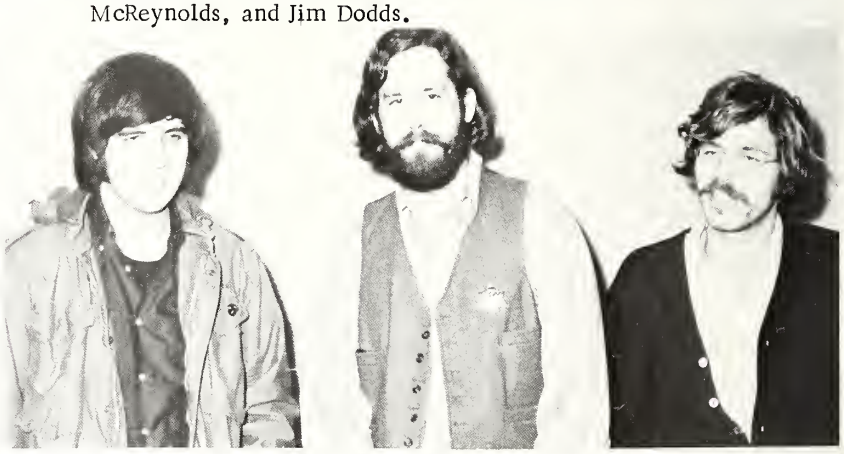
Vets Unite

Expanding every year, the Vet's Club is concerned with college and community activities. In past years, they have sponsored dances, conducted Veteran's Day convocations, and collected canned goods for the needy. Money earned goes into the club's fund for the needy veterans.



OFFICERS are from the left: Lyle Williams, Vice President; Jim Dodds, President; and Tim Auton, Secretary.

ADVISORS: Mr. Art Samford, Mr. Bob Jones, and Mr. Vincent Gain take an active role in the Vet's Club.

Karate Club Builds Character

Instructor ANDRE McWILLIAMS demonstrates a basic stance as the class tries to immitate him.

The Karate Club, sponsored by Karate instructor, Andre McWilliams, was formed at the beginning of this year. The club, meeting three times a week, was led up through the levels of Karate ability, signified by colored belts. The most important part of Karate, in McWilliams' opinion, is "character building, self-dicipline and confidence."

CLUB MEMBERS, from front to back, include Bernice McWilliams, Gary Davenport, Brandon Hill, Brad Pace, Ron Henson, and Duff Cooper.

Every part of the body is essential in Karate. Here McWilliams displays leg control.

"Your Just Sensational, Mame"

Along with individual effort and the unity of working, Rend Lake College's 1971 Spring Musical was a great success. MAME, one of the longest running plays that his Broadway, was based on Patrick Dennis' wild and hilarious book, AUNTIE MAME. The entire production, staging, make-up, and chorus, was handled by the cast. Musical background was provided by Brett Gibbs on the piano, MR. LARRY PHIFER on the bass, and Susan Schnake on the drums.

MRS. FOLEY demonstrates to the cast how to effectively conclude the first act.

As Agnes Gooch (Dianne Ferreira) expresses her way of "finally living," Vera Charles (Janet Raney) explains that Agnes has lived too fully already.

Patrick (Bob Bigham) is explaining to Auntie Mame (Angie Garner) about his playing an indecent game of "fish families."

Patrick (Bob Bigham) points to Auntie Mame in the distance as she catches the fox bare-handed.

A Moment Of Togetherness

Decorations, refreshments, flowers, and swinging music helped convert the gymnasium into a flower garden for the 1971 Spring Formal. The band entertained the small but appreciative crowd with dance music. Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Miss Debby Auten of Benton as the 1971 Queen.

The 1971 Spring Formal Queen, MISS DEBBY AUTEN.

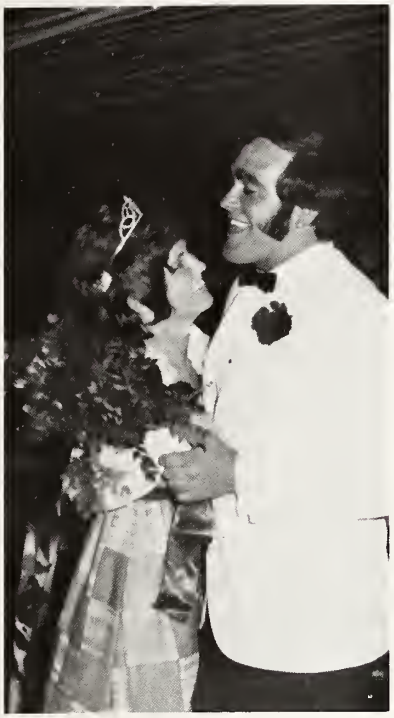
Debbie and her escort, Kenny Irvin, enjoy the queen's dance.



Those who were tired of dancing rested on the sides and enjoyed the conversation of their companions.

The gentlemen lined up on one side, their ladies on the other, and the music filled the space between them.

A moment of togetherness.

Amahl And The Night Visitors Proves Opera Successful

"Amahl and the Night Visitors," under the direction of Larry Phifer, made its RLC opera debut to this area. Composing the townspeople were: Kathleen Schutte, Donna Kimmel, Gayla Harrelson, Diane Clark, Rhonda Baker, Beverly McKenzie, Tom Denton, Bob Hobbs, Jay DeWitt, Joe Bob Pierce, and Dottie Thompson. Accompaniment was supplied by Thurman Drennan (piano) and LeAnn Dycus (oboe).

Having a simple setting and theme, the opera conveyed the richest meaning of Christmas - that of giving.

The 3 kings, Kaspar (Jim Justice) Melchoir (Mark Gifford) and Balthazar (Jesse Bee), sing of the newborn babe whom they seek.

Amahl pleads with Page (Kent Renshaw) to release his Mother as the kings are awakened by the theft.

Small Crowd Enjoys 1971 Christmas Dance

About seventy-five couples enjoyed the 1971 Christmas Dance in the college gym. Music was supplied by ROC.

Couples danced and from time to time visited the Oasis where refreshments were provided. The crowd was not large, but the band's versatility and Christmas atmosphere combined to bring an enjoyable evening for those who attended.

ROC played a good variety of slow and fast dances.

The autumn dramatic production was an old-fashioned melodrama, involving the romance of railroad superintendent Truman Pendennis and Prudence Hopewell, and the attempts of the villionous Simon Darkway and his sidekick, Dirk Sneath, to take Truman railroad and his Prudence away. Truman falls into disgrace and Simon appears near victory, but honesty and truth prevail and all ends well.

Truman's pleas of innocence fail to convince his friend Harold Stanfast (l. Bob Hobbs) and engineer Fred Wheelwright (Steve Korris) as Dirk Sneath (r. Calvin McClintock) witnesses Truman's disgrace.

I was sorry to learn that Mount Vernon Community College will go out of existence on July 1.

During the 11 years it has served the community, Mount Vernon Community College became known for its academic excellence and also as a training ground for many of the area's citizens who have risen to responsible positions in private business and government.

It can be said that Mount Vernon Community College was part of an experiment which led to the creation of a statewide system of junior colleges. While the college will cease to exist on July 1, it will be replaced by a new Class I school, Rend Lake Junior College.

Special recognition should be extended to Dr. Howard Rawlinson who has guided Mount Vernon Community College through its formative years. A man of courage and dedication he holds the esteem of all who have had the honor of knowing him.

I want to extend my warmest best wishes for success to the Class of 1967 and to the far-sighted individuals who saw the need for Mount Vernon Community College.

Sincerely,

Governor

ATHLETICS

Our total effort is as a team

The Physical Education Department Offers Activities For Active Students

Girls enjoy volleyball as part of the P.E. Department's activities.

Golf instructor MIKE McCLURE directs Curtis Endicott on correct form of holding a golf club.

We at Rend Lake College are proud of our school and are likewise enthusiastic about the excellent facilities of the Physical Education Department. Jim Waugh, Mike McClure, and Wayne Arnold head the Men's Fitness, while Rebecca Pettit is in charge of the Women's Fitness. There are many different aspects of fitness to choose from, each contributing to the goal of better fitness for Rend Lake College students.

Strenuous exercise is part of conditioning in men's fitness class.

Tennis enthusiasts enjoy Rend Lake's open-air courts.

Members of men's Basketball find that running is also an important factor in all-around conditioning.

Dave McCullum demonstrates Rend Lake's weight machine.

Baseball Warriors Work Together Effectively

With the addition of MIKE McCLURE as head baseball coach, this year's team stands ready to take on any opposition. The squad emerged from the fall exhibition schedule defeating Southeastern College (Harrisburg) three times. Southeastern was the only team played during the fall season.

Reserves Gary Rayburn, Ed Williams, Rick Salyer, and Assistant Coach DAVE RANEY look on anxiously along with COACH MIKE McCLURE.

Bruce Owen goes easily into third base after a hit against Southeastern.

Rick Salyer dives safely into base despite the efforts of the Southeastern third baseman.

Ed Williams looks on in anticipation of another run.

Warriors Put It Together

Ed Case puts in two more despite the efforts of two John A. Logan defenders.

During pre-game warm-ups, Terry Edson displays the skills he will use in the game.

Ronnie Henderson begins the game with a decisive jump over a Logan player.

Warriors Have Record-Breaking Year

This year's Rend Lake basketball Warriors proved to be the finest team in Rend Lake history. They compiled an 18-11 record, while knocking off such outstanding teams as Parkland, Olney Central, and Lincoln Trail. The Warriors set many team records in the '71-'72 campaign. Some of the more important records were:

Most wins in a season, 18
Most consecutive wins, 6
Best winning percentage, .621
Most points in a season, 2513

The Warriors were led in the scoring column by sophomore Ed Case, who averaged 17.1 points per game and totalled 497 points, just 23 shy of the all-time individual scoring record. The rebounding strength came from Ronnie Henderson and Case, who were the big men under the boards, leading the team in rebounds. Terry Edson served as ballhawk and floor general for the fast-moving Warrior offense from his guard position. Edson's running mate, Sonny Wyatt, averaged 16.7 points per game. The Warriors also had a good bench, relying on super-sub Bob Rusiewski in forward position.

Through the deep dedication of Coach Jim Waugh and assistant Mike McClure, the Warriors showed poise and ability in this record-breaking season.

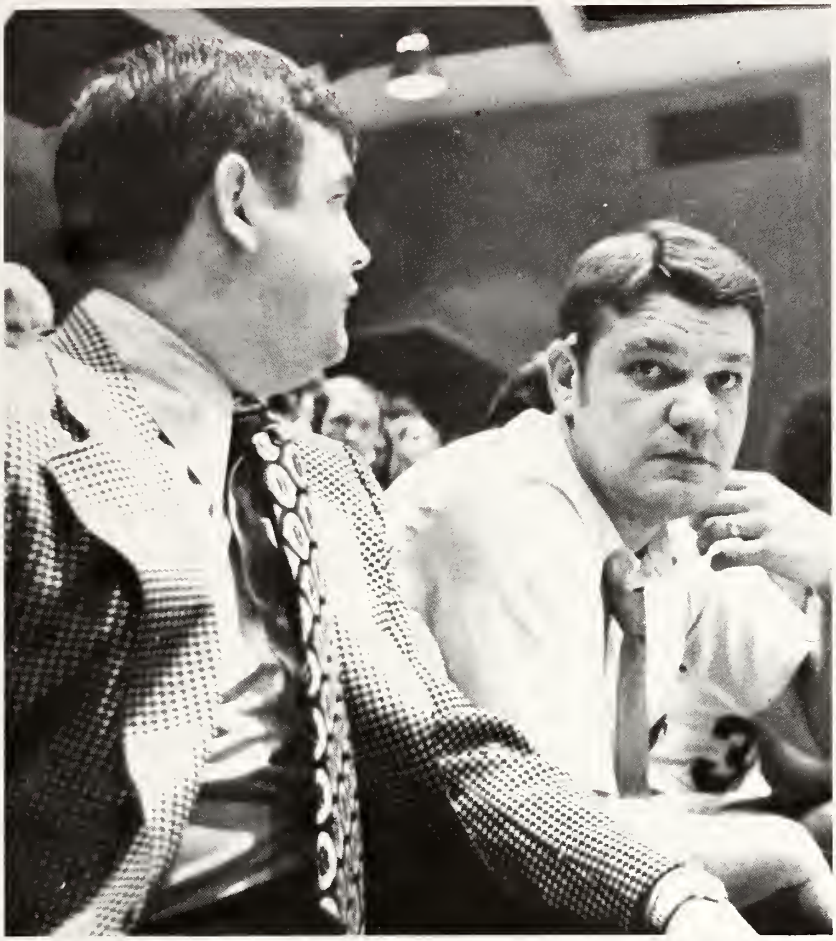
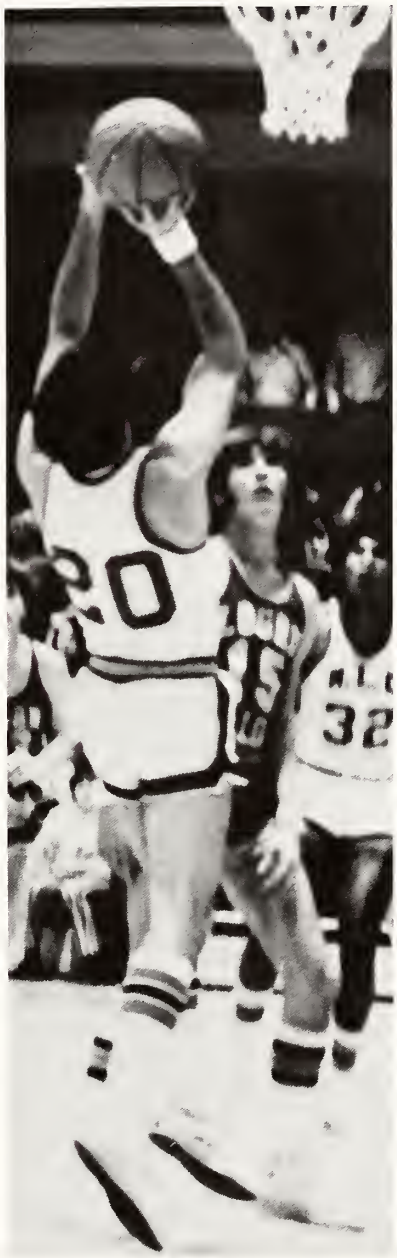
Ed Case prepares to pass to Chap Waters for two points against Southeastern.



Assistant Coach Mike McClure and Head Coach Jim Waugh anticipate and next move as they look on from the bench.

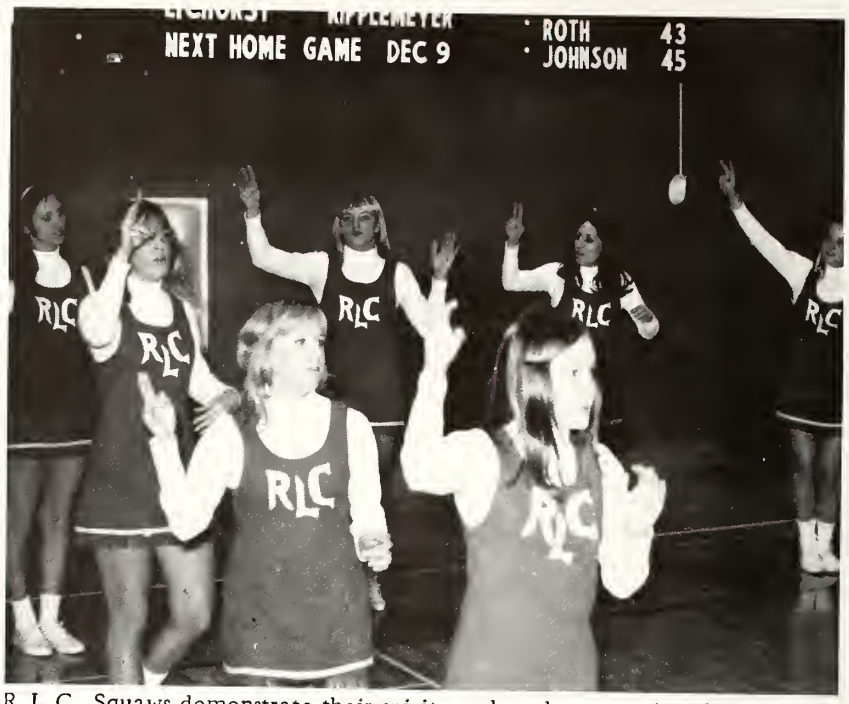
Hustling guard Terry Edson breaks into the open for a clean, shot against Logan.



Sonny Wyatt jumps high over Logan defense to get off a crucial shot.

Cheerleaders Furnish Spirit

With an additional cheerleader and new uniforms, this years squad is more energetic than ever. Their abundance of spirit is readily visable at every Warrior basketball game.



R. L. C. Squaws demonstrate their spirit, and at the same time keep an eye on the game.

Students Participate In Intramural Sports

Duff Cooper challenges his opponent with much determination during the championship chess match.

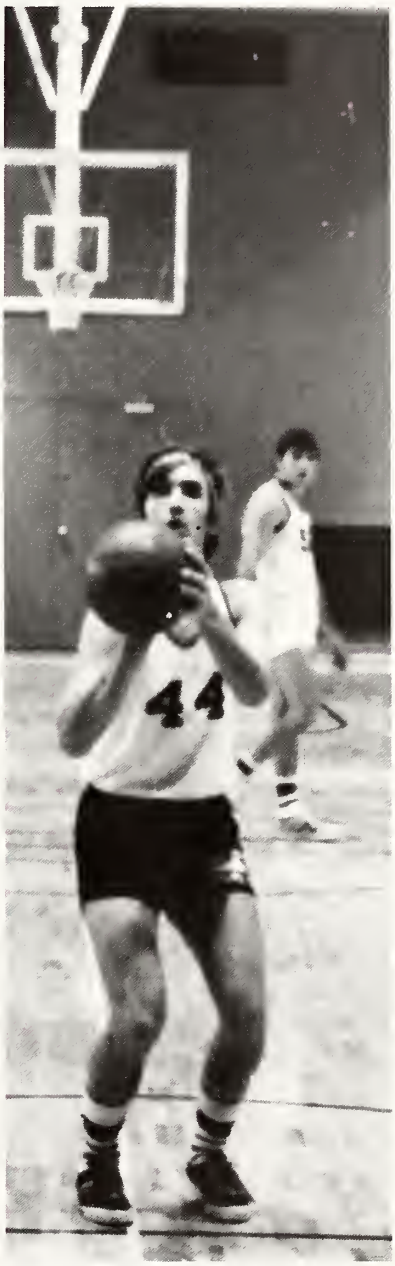
This past year at R. L. C. has shown great participation in the intramural program. Under the direction of Mr. Wayne Arnold, a variety of activities have been offered. For the individual minded, such sports and activities offered were chess, badmitton, tennis, horseshoes, and table tennis. For the team minded participants basketball, volleyball, and softball were offered. Each year, the intramural program has developed and matured. The future should be no exception.

Randy Smithpeters shows the form that is so essential in badmitton.

The "Turtles" were winners of the intramural basketball tournament.

TURTLE TEAM MEMBERS are Bottom: David Dude, Brad Weathers, Kim Hall; Top: Tony Knapp, Terry Edson, Blake Griffin.

Kim Hall of the "Turtles" and Willie Jelks of the "Magnificent 7," have one of their many jump ball battles in the championship game.



Tony Knapp of the "Turtles," sinks two last second free throws enabling his team to win the championship game.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We of the Tarn Staff sincerely appreciate the cooperation of the following people;
Richard Clark, Dale Filberth, Louie Pavledes, Anson Myers, John W. Squtt, James McGhee . . . and a special thanks to Dr. Howard Rawlinson who has helped to make R.L.C. what it is today.

If we change the world, let it bear the mark of our intelligence.
